Breeder of Outstanding Hybrids*

1960 FALL OFFERING SEEDLINGS & ESTABLISHED PROPAGATIONS

Visiting England this Spring, to attend the Third World Orchid Conference and to view the fabulous Chelsea Show, we were able to fulfill a desire cherished for some time, that of spending a few days at the Stuart Low Orchid Nurseries at Crowborough, to talk orchids with Miss Low and to see the impressive stud stock which makes possible the many quality hybrids Stuart Low have produced and which will play an important part in the scheme of things yet to come.

To talk orchids with Miss Low is indeed a rare privilege and we return home more impressed than we can say, that in orchid hybridizing there is nothing to match experience and know-how. The Stuart Low family have both of these ingredients to the extent of some 130 years--in an unbroken line--a truly impressive record of vital importance in the production of quality hybrids.

While at Crowborough, we personally selected our Spring stock and in the following listing you will note a number of superlative new crosses with notably promising expectancies. It is a pleasure to recommend them for your consideration.

One of our valued customers, down Texas way, writes: "You perhaps get tired of hearing about what good luck I have with my Ashcroft (Stuart Low) propagations, but I can't resist bragging about them. It may be that because of the expected quality and price involved I give them a little extra attention and a favored spot in the greenhouse until they are growing well, but none have failed to promptly start growth soon after arrival and then grow like weeds."

We can only add that these Propagations from proven bloomers do provide a thrifty way to improve the quality of any collection. With two to three years of good culture they are blooming size plants, of exhibition quality, worth several times their cost. Number and size of buds, and the quality of flowers, determine the price. Where two propagations of the same size, of the same hybrid, are listed at different prices, the higher priced propagation will definitely produce the better quality flowers. Mainly we have but one piece of each item listed. May we suggest that you indicate a second choice. We do not substitute without your permission.
